

Dr. Phillips Academic Commons - Conceptual Rendering

Creative Village builds on the success of Orlando's digital media industry by transforming the former site of the Amway Arena in Downtown Orlando into a 68-acre mixed-use, transit oriented, urban infill neighborhood that will be home to UCF Downtown; high-tech, digital media and creative companies; and a diverse mix of students, employees and residents. Creative Village fosters a "live, work, learn, and play" lifestyle in the heart of Downtown Orlando while bringing exciting opportunities to the Parramore area.

Creative Village Conceptual Vertical Development

Public/Private Partnership

Creative Village is a public/private partnership between the City of Orlando and the Master Developer, Creative Village Development, LLC (CVD): a joint venture between Banc of America Community Development Corporation (BACDC) and a local team led by Ustler Development, Inc.

- > The City of Orlando conceived the original idea for a digital media cluster in Downtown Orlando and is the landowner.
- > BACDC is a for profit, wholly owned subsidiary of Bank of America, dedicated to the urban revitalization of cities throughout our nation, and is focused on the creation and preservation of affordable housing. BACDC is a leader in public/private partnerships specializing in master development of mixed-use communities and neighborhood reinvestment through the development of sustainable multifamily and senior housing.
- > The local development team, led by Ustler Development, Inc., knows the Downtown Orlando market and has an extensive track record in urban infill projects, documented success with neighborhood mixed-use projects and unparalleled local connections.

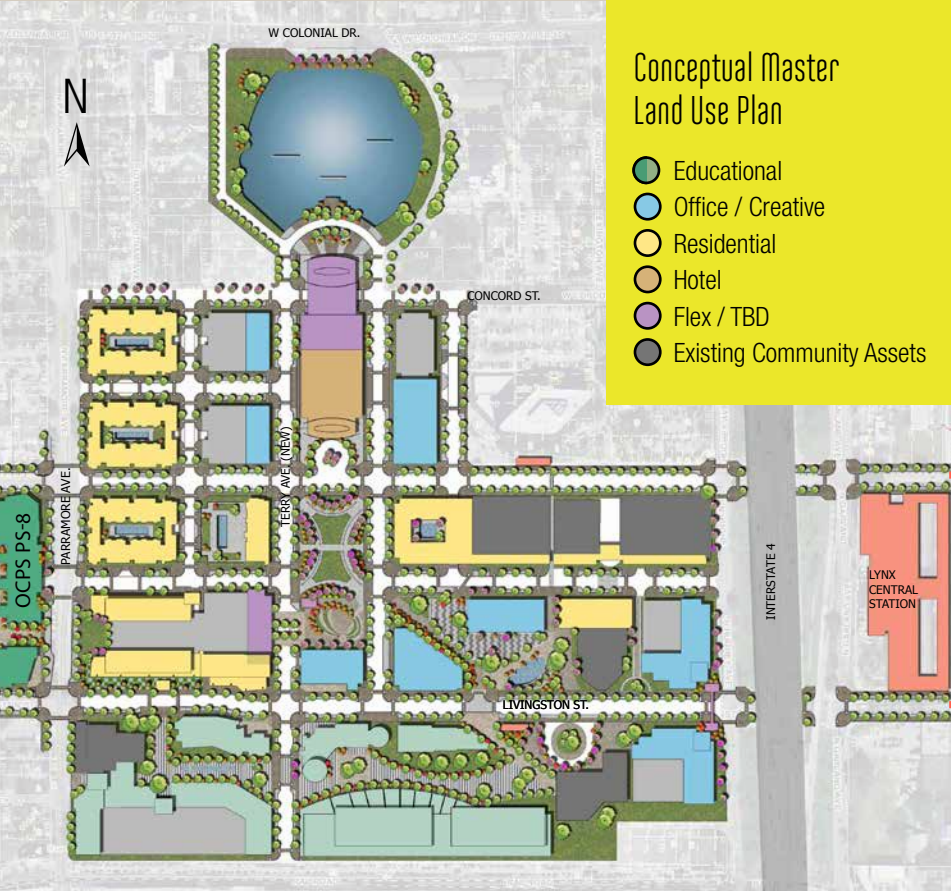

Downtown Orlando

Orlando is quickly becoming recognized as a World Class City. Downtown Orlando is home to the new Amway Center, Dr. Phillips Center for the Performing Arts and a completely overhauled Citrus Bowl. We're growing our transportation infrastructure through SunRail commuter rail service, All Aboard Florida, expansion of the Orlando Airport and the I-4 Ultimate project. Our tech community is thriving as evidenced by many successful "home grown" tech companies, the formation of the Orlando Tech Association and the opening of several new tech-focused co-working spaces. We've reinforced our position as a sports mecca by securing a Major League Soccer franchise, Orlando City, securing a professional women's soccer team, Orlando Pride, and completing a new soccer-specific stadium in 2017. More recently Downtown Orlando mapped out a strategic plan for the next decade through Project DTO and launched a community-wide initiative to address homelessness. Others are starting to figure out what we already know – that Downtown Orlando is a great place to live, work, learn, and play!

Project Overview

When complete, this high quality, sustainable neighborhood development will represent a diverse and dynamic mix of uses including up to 1,200,000 square feet of office/creative space, 750,000 square feet of higher education space, 1,500 residential units, 1,500 student housing beds, 150,000 square feet of retail/commercial space and 225 hotel rooms. At build-out, Creative Village encompasses over $1 billion in new development.

Creative Village is centered around education and transit, including SunRail. It will be the largest transit oriented development project in Central Florida, significantly expanding educational opportunities in Downtown Orlando (i.e., UCF and Valencia). Creative Village will showcase best practices in responsible development and will be one of the largest LEED-ND developments in Florida.

Connectivity

Proximity to SunRail and LYNX Central Station provide Creative Village and Parramore with improved regional access to jobs, education, social services, government facilities, entertainment, civic and cultural assets and many other opportunities. Creative Village is adjacent to LYNX Central Station, the primary station in Downtown Orlando for the SunRail commuter rail line. The LYNX LYMMO bus circulator connects Creative Village and Parramore to the Central Business District and community venues.

UCF Downtown

The University of Central Florida (UCF), in partnership with Valencia College, will create a best-in-the-nation campus for digital media, communication, public services and health-related programs located at Creative Village. The first phase will serve approximately 7,700 students on a new campus in Downtown Orlando opening in August 2019. Long term plans include 10,000 to 15,000 students. UCF, the second largest public university in the nation, will relocate 14 academic programs, in addition to student support services, creating a vibrant, full-service campus in the heart of Downtown Orlando. Valencia College will offer general education, job training and a world-class culinary program. UCF Downtown broke ground on May 11, 2017.
